An aerial map of the Rämeschgrund area, showing a network of roads and a bridge crossing a stream. The map includes labels for 'Rämeschgrund' and '345.3'. The terrain is depicted with various shades of grey and brown, indicating different elevations and land use.

An aerial map of the Bridel area, showing the N 12 highway running through the center. To the west is a bridge over a river. To the east are several buildings, including a large industrial complex and a residential area. The map also shows various roads, including the N 12, and some smaller local roads. There are also some green spaces and trees scattered throughout the area.

An aerial map of the town of Bridel, located in the northern part of France. The town is shown in grey, with its streets and buildings. To the west, a large industrial or agricultural facility is visible, with several large buildings and fields. To the east, a railway line with a station is shown. The map also includes a network of roads and a river or stream flowing through the area. The town of Bridel is labeled in bold black text in the center of the map.

An aerial map showing a residential area with several streets labeled. Street 346.8 is on the left, Street 351.7 is in the center, and Street 352.2 is on the right. A building labeled 'Ecole' is located near Street 351.7. A church is marked with a cross. A dashed line runs diagonally across the map, starting from the bottom left and ending at the top right. The map also shows various houses, trees, and other urban features.

An aerial map showing a residential area with several houses, roads, and a small body of water. A blue rectangular box highlights a specific area in the center-left of the map, which corresponds to the location shown in the detailed view below.
